

The Center for Race & Ethnicity presents:

VOICE OF ARABIA

A film by Tewfic Hakem

FILM SCREENING AND DISCUSSION

Facilitated by Jill Campaiola, Media Studies, SC&I

This film takes an inside look at the first Arab non-stop news network through a collection of newsroom discussions, interviews, and news footage.

Follow the journalists of Al Jazeera, as they discuss U.S. and Middle-East foreign policy or as they debate the idea of airing a new Bin Laden videotape.

Witness the formation of a distinct Arab journalistic culture, which gives a voice to the Arab world and its citizen.

Come see this important film and discuss it with a Rutgers scholar, who recently conducted fieldwork in the Moroccan media industry.
All are welcome!
