

FILM SCREENING AND DRUM PERFORMANCE

The Center for Race and Ethnicity Presents:

Bad Friday: Rastafari After Coral Gardens

Featuring a live performance by percussion group, Ancient Vibrations

Followed by a question and answer session with

Director Deborah A. Thomas and Producer Junior "Gabu" Wedderburn!

The documentary, Bad Friday: Rastafari After Coral Gardens, focuses on a community of Rastafarians in western Jamaica who annually commemorate the 1963 Coral Gardens "incident," a moment just after independence when the Jamaican government rounded up, jailed and tortured hundreds of Rastafarians.

Time: Monday, March 26, 7:30 PM
Location: Art History 100
Douglass Campus
Rutgers University
New Brunswick, NJ

Open to the public

Cosponsored by: Critical Caribbean Studies Initiative, Latino and Hispanic Caribbean Studies, Department of Anthropology, SAS Dean's Office, Office of Undergrad Ed.

RUTGERS
School of Arts and Sciences