

9th ANNUAL FACULTY FORUM on RACE AND ETHNICITY at Rutgers University

AN OPEN INVITATION TO FACULTY
COME, PRESENT, PARTICIPATE: Friday, October 31, 2014

On Friday, October 31, 2014, the Center for Race and Ethnicity will host its 9th annual one-day forum for Rutgers scholars doing research relating to race and ethnicity. We encourage faculty from all parts of the university – ranging across schools, disciplines and departments – to join an already-forming group who will be sharing work, meeting colleagues, and hearing about new research at Rutgers. The meeting is part of an ongoing initiative to promote interdisciplinary exchange and intellectual collaboration across the units and campuses of the university, and to shape the evolving agenda of the Center for Race and Ethnicity.

PLEASE RSVP by Wednesday, Oct. 1: Faculty who wish to present 5 minute descriptions of their work and to participate in conversation about research trends and developments are asked to send a brief description of their work, a CV, and contact information to: raceethnicity@sas.rutgers.edu. Please feel free to contact Professor Ann Fabian, Acting Director, afabian@rci.rutgers.edu, or Mia Kissil, Senior Program Coordinator, mkissil@rci.rutgers.edu with any questions. Recently-hired faculty members and post-doctoral associates are especially encouraged to attend and speak about their work.

THE MEETING begins at 10:00 a.m. in the CRE OFFICES, 1st Floor of 191 College Avenue, College Avenue Campus. Lunch will be provided. (Full program details will follow.) Graduate students are welcome to attend.

COME, PRESENT, PARTICIPATE. If you cannot attend the faculty forum, but are interested in the learning more about the Center, please contact us. Send a CV, a paragraph-long description of your research, and contact information, so we can keep you informed of future meetings and events.
