A Netflix Documentary directed by Ava DuVernay Film Screening and discussion led by Dr. Mia Bay (History, RU-NB) to follow

Join the CRE for a screening and discussion of filmmaker Ava DuVernay's new documentary, which explores the history of racial inequality in the United States, focusing on the fact that the nation's prisons are disproportionately filled with African-Americans. The title refers to the Thirteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, enacted in 1865, which abolishes slavery, "except as a punishment for crime."
