

AN OPEN INVITATION TO FACULTY

GENDER, RACE & ETHNICITY: GLOBAL PERSPECTIVES

A ONE-DAY FORUM ON CROSS-CUTTING SCHOLARSHIP FOR FACULTY at Rutgers University

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10TH, 2008

COME, PRESENT, PARTICIPATE

On Friday, October 10th, the Institute for Research on Women (IRW) and the Center for Race and Ethnicity (CRE) will host a daylong meeting bringing together faculty from across schools, disciplines, and departments to discuss their research as it relates to the construction and interplay of gender, race and ethnicity in different global contexts. We encourage faculty across the university to come, share work, meet colleagues, and hear about new research at Rutgers. This meeting is part of a joint initiative to promote interdisciplinary exchange and intellectual collaborations, and to shape the evolving collaboration between the Institute for Research on Women and the Center for Race and Ethnicity.

PLEASE RSVP by Monday, September 22nd. Faculty who wish to present 5 minute descriptions of their work in to-be-arranged panels, and to participate in conversation about research trends and developments are asked to send a brief description of your work, a CV, and contact information to irw@rci.rutgers.edu with "Gender, Race & Ethnicity Forum" in the subject line. (You may also contact Dorothy Hodgson, IRW Director: dhodgson@rci.rutgers.edu; Beth Hutchison, IRW Associate Director: bhutch@rci.rutgers.edu; Keith Wailoo, CRE Director: kwailoo@ifh.rutgers.edu; or Mia Bay, CRE Associate Director: mbay@rci.rutgers.edu.) Recently-hired faculty members are especially encouraged to attend and speak about their work.

THE MEETING begins at 9 a.m. at the Ruth Dill Johnson Crockett Building, 161 Ryders Lane, on Douglass campus. Light morning refreshments and lunch will be provided. (Full program details will follow)

PLEASE CONTACT US at one of the addressed below if you cannot attend the event, but are interested in the work being presented. Graduate students are welcome to attend.
